This is a provisional timetable to guide parents as to normal practice for homework and how often it may be set. There are times that it is necessary for teachers to adapt to the children's learning needs and focus on a particular area.

We ask that parents guide their children, but not heavily. Teachers use homework to help children reinforce concepts and see if they can complete tasks independently.

If children do not complete their homework, there is always chances given but if this becomes a regular occurrence, parents will be emailed and if it continues, children will be asked to complete the task during their breaktimes.
